The very different strengths of the many divisions of basketball have been taken into account in this game; with 4 separate leagues for the college and pro championships, a Winter league with a shorter schedule, and even the NABP circuit. Each of the leagues has its own unique characteristics and rules which have been carefully taken into account by the developers; for instance a college division which requires playing on campus, or a pro league which has players more readily available. Each player has been created based on a rigorous study of their physical and mental traits, and you will find that your own professional team has a national personality as different from the other leagues as those of your opponents. School teams are subject to preseason workouts, practice and coach recruitment, as are professional teams. Your players receive their daily workouts in order to ensure their peak performance, and will not be afraid to voice their opinions when you disagree with them. Received criticism is received and acted on with the use of the coaching staff. You can also practice tactics using team-specific pre- and post-game presentations, which have all been worked out with a great deal of attention to detail. The entire game, from the players' training to the press conferences and the coach's conference, is a pleasure to play, as it has been designed in cooperation with teams and sports journalists. The hardest and most effective decisions are based on players' availability and contracts, and there are lots of options to take into account: all coaches are contractually tied to their clubs, and you can draft, trade or sign players at any time. In order to help you avoid running over your budget, the game features a robust management system with two budget areas, an advance and a pay roll, that allow you to maximize earnings. The game features a sophisticated visual interface that allows you to quickly access information at any time, customize the game as you wish, and check the status of your team with a few clicks of the mouse. All in all, the game is packed with features: team documentation, scouting, player management, tactics, and the database editor all come complete and ready for use. How to Play Take on the role of a basketball coach: You will find yourself in charge of a team, including a mascot. Build a winning team with the best players and ensure your fans support you. Be sure to coach your team to success in the regular season, and at the same time maintain a balance between training and practicing, and maintaining your team's
