The setting for the game is an old man who wants to re-discover what his past memories are. He goes on a journey through nature and multiple seasons. During his trip, he finds and explores everything that is around him. The story has a nice blend of emotions, nostalgia, secrets, hidden, puzzles and fun. It is also hard to put into words how amazing and inspiring the game really is. The old man gets to play as himself, and explore his past as well as discover the beautiful story. There are 6 different endings and it is possible to re-play the game and see how the story changes and how the old man evolves as well as where his journey leads. Art and Animation The game have a very simple yet refined art style. It is a very open feeling art style that gives the game a nice edge and ambient atmosphere. It isn't a style that tries to make everything look so complex. It is also not an extremely dark art style that focuses on making the art dark and creepy. Instead, it is a style that make everything inviting and realistic. The animations, which mostly consist of paper cut outs, are in 2D and are very simple, but they are enough to tell a story and make it look nice. The old man and his wife have a beautiful animations of their own that are very simple and yet fitting for their character. The old man is mostly stationary. There are a couple of places he can move around but mostly he stands still and does all his actions from there. The boats are all animated and look beautiful. The trees are all different sizes and shapes and look really cool. The old man also have a weird animation that looks like a cartoon, where he move about in front of everything he is standing close to. Music The main theme of the game is this really simple track. It is a relaxing, ambient-like track that is used for most of the game and is played through most of the cutscenes. The credits theme is also very relaxing. It doesn't talk about the past, but instead focus on the beauty of nature and the old man's memories that are together now. It is very familiar and gives the whole game a very nostalgic and sentimental feel. Control and Mechanics The controls in the game are quite simple. You have a moving car and the old man is free to move around this car. However, some things are happening and are hidden away. The old man

It's time for me to make peace with my past." She wiped away at the fresh tears, unwilling to waste the last of them. She was as eager as her nurse was to stop crying. "Life isn't over as long as you're breathing. It's not over until you put the final nail in the coffin of a past so ugly I should not have to live with it. There are good days ahead of me and I intend to let them pass." Someone moved down the hallway with a splash, washing away the evidence of their weeping, covering her mouth with her hand, amazed at the smell of the face she wiped away so clean.
