Heaven is a place where I'm all dressed up with nowhere to go, and the night is much longer than it should be. A Godless Atheist's Life (And Other Stories) This author is a friend of mine and I recommend her book as a much needed "Come to Jesus". Think back...back to your teen years and try to imagine what that was like. If you don't, read this book. The book begins with a life like mine. Growing up in an atheist home and getting college, then grad school. I've shared the (early) parts of my life with the work I do and still have "God" in my life as my mother. I've shared that before...I'm not going to bother rehashing. The thing I wanted to share is, what every atheist needs to know. If you're an atheist, you've got to read this book. You could also identify with other parts of this book, especially the isolation. At the end of the day, (or year), I have a little more love for my Lord than any other day. I don't know why. It's just who I am. But, if you're an atheist, you've got to know what Jesus did for you. Most atheists will know about Jesus, but most will be fully or partially atheist. This book is my "Come to Jesus" moment. It's rough, too. Not in a nice, comforting way. There's a LOT to know and it's all truth, no hidden agenda. Some Atheists may decide to get it. If you're an atheist, you need to read this book. If you're not an atheist but know some atheists, you'd better do the same. You never know when you need Jesus. Here's a review from Lighthouse Trails. (I think their reviews are great because I generally find the author to be unbiased and usually passionate about what they're covering). It's different. It's honest. It's heart wrenching. It's tough, but...it's necessary. It's real and raw and honest and it💎

Q: How to change line color with plotly-r I am trying to change line color of my plot with this code. I have a dataframe with columns x and y: `x% add_trace(x = ~x, y = ~y, type = "scatter", mode = "lines", yaxis = 1, name = "f(x)") p % layout(yaxis = list(title = "f(x)")` p I want to be able to change line color. But I dont know if plotly-r has a function to change the colors. I know the line color is a RGB value and I want to have the following color: colorR=255 colorG=127 colorB=0 A: The most straightforward way to set color for a scatter trace is through the line parameter, using RGB values, but you must make sure that the col parameter is set to something reasonable, and of course, you'll need to make sure that your plot structure is correct. For example, your graph should include trace1, which is the blue line and trace2, which is the red line. Note that the x variable in the table is called line, the y variable is called color. Here is your graph with the colors that you wanted, using colorR=255, colorG=127, and colorB=0 for the three lines: `plot_ly(DF) %>% add_trace(x = ~x, y = ~y, type = "scatter", mode = "lines", yaxis = 1, name = "f(x)", line = list(col = c("red", "blue", "red"))` As others have mentioned, you can play with the
