FIFA is the world's best-selling sports video game franchise, widely acknowledged to be the best sports video game on the market. The FIFA series of games is licensed by FIFA, the world's leading soccer club and events organizer. The FIFA World Cup™ is the most watched and followed sporting event in the world, with fans attending the FIFA World Cup™ final events in some 70 countries. Players around the world enjoy competing and watching in FIFA's best-loved modes such as Career Mode, online multiplayer, The Show™ and The Journey. The FIFA franchise has won more than 50 Game of the Year Awards and was named Sports Game of the Year at the Interactive Achievement Awards earlier this year. More than 110 million copies of the FIFA game have been sold. New Play Style Modes in FIFA 22 Inspired by the fast and highly-competitive, global grassroots football that is the heartbeat of FIFA, FIFA 22 introduces five new modes of play, all of which place a greater emphasis on the game's key features – speed and skill – and the importance of playing against opponents of a similar skill level. FIFA 22 Instinctive Player Control (IPC) takes the game into a whole new world, with players no longer restricted to linear motions when using the basic ball control features. Players are able to perform more complex manoeuvres and make decisions with their feet to play quicker, more dynamic and more varied football. Live the Dream FIFA 22 introduces 'Live the Dream', a brand new single-player mode where fans can win a chance to play the dream team of their own on a FIFA world-class stage. Players pick their three best characteristics (skills, speed, creativity), based on their club's squad, and they must then combine their attributes and adapt to a vastly different experience of gameplay – including a different ball motion, the international ball and FIFA player attributes such as pace and physicality. The Challenge Inspired by the news that over 1.8 billion people around the world play FIFA every year, FIFA 22 introduces The Challenge. The Challenge allows users to compete against friends and the rest of the world in an unprecedented cross-platform online battle using their favorite players, games, and options from all of EA SPORTS FIFA's major platforms: PlayStation®4, PlayStation®3, Xbox One, Xbox 360 and PC.
