WinLab is a tool that will help you analyse your data with results that are both very fast and extremely accurate. In a few seconds you can check the quality of your samples, the concentration of the elements, the pH of your solutions, and many other results. You can also use the WinLab panel to assist you with the analysis and validation of your samples. You can get more detailed information about the tools used for the calculation in the help panel. Available in 2011, WinLab was designed to make the job of laboratory technicians both simple and easy for any user. It provides an extensive menu with 26 functions, including both quick and detailed analysis of your results, analysis of a single sample or an entire set of samples, simple spectral analysis, and functions to correct and verify, among others. The intuitive interface lets users concentrate on their daily tasks while the electronic hardware and software used allows you to handle large and complex sets of data quickly and accurately. Laplacian spectra, wav, csv and text files are free to edit, read and save; complete sets of data, such as the analytical results, can be exported to xml or tab delimited files which can be easily read and imported into other systems. WinLab is a versatile, free, open source lab software for Windows and Mac. It includes a fully featured graphical user interface and a comprehensive framework for data analysis, calibration, and spectroscopy. WinLab is based on Qt library 5.4 and is built for Windows (32 and 64 bit) and Mac OS X (32 and 64 bit). WinLab can be used as a batch processing system, or as a stand-alone application. Free.
